Kuala Lumpur, Singapore and Bali

As for the Malaysian capital, Kuala Lumpur, we can say it is the largest city in the country and one of the most modern cities in Southeast Asia. It has skyscrapers, a suspended monorail system and other cutting edge public transport systems who share the same space with an exquisite colonial centre of low houses; antique cars, street stalls and heavy traffic.

Tour the Singapore river by boat, eat at a hawker, see the skyscrapers from Merlion Park, visit Little India, walk through Chinatown and enjoy a drink at Clarke Quay; these are some of the experiences you can have in Singapore.

Known as the Island of the Gods, Bali is a paradise destination that has much to offer to its visitors. Verdant paddy fields, centuries-old temples, unforgettable sunsets, local art and culture, ancient dances, stunning landscapes and the world's best hotels are just some of the highlights of the island.
